

God placed his children in a beautiful garden. He gave them every good thing their hearts desired.

And they were happy.

"Everything I have is yours," God promised. "But you must not eat from the tree in the center of the garden."

So Adam and Eve did just as God said.